Editorial Guidelines

Story Themes

- Focus stories, covers, and titles on friendships, adventures, and key attributes of the princesses.
- Although romance is a theme in many of the princesses' stories, it should not be the sole focus, except in some special cases.
- Avoid common princess criticisms, such as falling in love instantly, love being the only happy ending, and sacrificing everything for true love.
- Use the prince in retelling of the films; in non-retellings, balance him with other story elements, characters, and dreams/goals.

Dress & Play

Strategy

Create fresh Dress & Play formats organized by individual princess, multiple princesses, and themes

Rules

- Use approved Dress & Play cover poses on covers.
- Dress & Play cover poses are approved only for Dress & Play formats.
- Do not use Dress & Play spot art in non-dress-up formats.
- Do not show princesses in undergarments on covers.
- Convey the dress-up activity on front cover.
- Include a maximum of three princesses on the cover.

Castles

How many stories does your castle have?

The castles provide a wonderful storytelling setting allowing us to create original stories based on our characters' individual backstories. The details of the castles' numerous rooms and furnishings allow us to explore a dollhouse feature that will be the basis for an Activity and Sticker Spot Art Pool. Once completed, the full vision will encompass the below formats, allowing us to make a real statement at retail:

- High-end cross section picture book
- Storybook collection or 8 x 8 series
- Sticker, Coloring and Activity range
- Comic books
- Magazines

Comics & Graphic Novels

Strategy

- Conceive and develop age-tailored stories and reading experiences
- Continue to leverage on the “yes and” storytelling angle
- Drive contemporary relevance
- Explore a variety of formats answering both readers needs and retail opportunities

Lyrics Permissions

- Please remember that lyrics from the music used in the Disney Princess films are NOT available for free use. Please contact your local territory manager to discuss permissions and associated fees.

- Song titles may be used with no fee attached.

Example

- Title of a book can be Part of Your World
NOT Up Where They Walk

Comfy Princesses

The Wreck It Ralph 2 Comfy Squad Style Guide is NOT approved for pick-up by publishing licensees. We will create a publishing-specific Comfy Princess program that will be available to licensees.

See the Wreck It Ralph Tool Kit for more information.
ISBN: 978DPWWRPB985

Moana and Princess

- As of now, Moana is NOT branded under Disney Princess.
- Moana titles should be branded under Moana unless given special permission.

Art Guidelines

How Art Is Layered

- All of the assets we create are layered by character, shadows, and backgrounds.
- This gives anyone the flexibility to creatively explore the possibilities for their product needs.

Art Mixing Rules - Art Style

- Don't mix art styles.
- Covers and interiors should have consistent art styles. When publishing a collection of stories with various styles, use DPW art style on covers and title pages.

Design Guidelines

Design Rules

Debundle

Focus covers on individual princesses
OR
Limit to 2-3 princesses per cover

Active and Authentic Poses

Highlight story moments and bring in secondary characters to deepen storytelling. Do not use passive poses.

Diversity

Showcase a balanced and diverse array of personalities, stories, talents, and ethnicities.

In order to maintain fresh product on shelf and not overly saturate the market with the same princesses, the following rule must be followed on covers:

If your multi-princess cover features only these characters—Rapunzel, Cinderella, Belle, Ariel, Aurora—you must swap one of them for these characters—Jasmine, Merida, Mulan, Pocahontas, Snow White, or Tiana.

Design Rules

The Fourth Wall

- Princesses should not be shown in the same world.
- A multi-princess cover can't be shown with princesses inhabiting the same 4-color or environment as the background.
- A multi-princess cover can be shown with 1-color and 2-color environment, a graphic 1-, 2-, or 4-color background, or individual 4-color backgrounds.

Go Beyond Pink

- Create fresh, colorful princess covers that use many colors, including but not limited to pink.
- For individual princess covers, use each princess's signature color.

Glitter & Sparkle

- Use glitter on a cover if it enhances a magical story moment.
- Like colors on covers, try to use a variety of effects including but not limited to glitter.

Logo Rules

Disney Princess Logo

- To be used with books that feature two or more princesses
- Extension stories
- If a retelling, Disney Princess logo can be used only if the name of the film is written in decorative font.
- Don't stack Disney Princess logo with film logo.
- Live action logos and princess logos should not be used together.

Horizontal Princess Logo

- 'Disney' and 'Princess' can be on the same line on spines
- Do not break up logo on covers

Film Logo

- To be used with retellings (see above note on using decorative font)
- Don't stack Disney Princess logo with film logo.

Badge Logo

- To be used for Disney Princess magazines only

Character Biographies

Ariel

The youngest daughter of King Triton, Ariel loves music, exploring, and above all, the human world. Ariel is fiercely independent. Despite her father's orders never to go to the surface of the ocean, the little mermaid can't help herself. She is fascinated by the human world and longs to be a part of it. She even collects human treasures from sunken ships. Ariel's life is turned on its ear when she rescues a human prince named Eric from a shipwreck and falls in love with him. Desperate to be with the man she loves, Ariel makes a deal with the sea witch, Ursula, and trades her voice for the chance to be human for three days. Although things do not go to plan, Eric does fall in love with Ariel and—with the help of King Triton—the two are married. Although Ariel now lives on land with Prince Eric and their dog, Max, she still loves the sea and visits her friends and family often.

King Triton

The mighty King Triton rules the seas and all of Atlantica with a firm hand—and a magical golden trident. Triton is not a fan of humans. In fact, he has forbidden his subjects to visit the surface or interact with humans in any way. Triton expects his rules to be followed and does not take kindly to being disobeyed. In spite of his sternness, Triton has a soft spot for his daughters. He is thrilled when he thinks Ariel has fallen in love with a merman and cannot wait to meet the lucky man. He also worries greatly and blames himself when Ariel falls into Ursula's clutches, even going so far as to sacrifice himself to save her. For all his harsh feelings toward the human world, Triton is not afraid to admit when he has made a mistake. Seeing Eric's love for Ariel, he admits that he may have judged the prince too quickly. In the end, he transforms Ariel permanently into a human so that she can be with the man she loves.

Ariel's Sisters

Ariel may be King Triton's most challenging daughter, but she's far from his only child. Ariel has six older sisters. Their names are Aquata, Andrina, Arista, Attina, Adella, and Alana. Although Ariel's sisters love her dearly, they don't understand her. They are perfectly happy with their lives under the sea and cannot fathom Ariel's fascination with the human world. Like Ariel, her sisters all have lovely voices. In fact, they are the singers in the choir conducted by Sebastian the crab.

Scuttle

Scuttle lives on a small rock in the ocean, not far from Prince Eric's castle. This dim-witted seagull thinks he knows everything about the human world, although what he actually knows may be a little off base. Scuttle is incredibly fond of Ariel. He happily shares his knowledge with her and does his best to help her win the heart of Prince Eric. Scuttle has a tendency to get flustered and mix up his words when he is startled, but he always comes through in the end. It is he who discovers that the sea witch Ursula has disguised herself as a human to stop Ariel from winning over Eric.

Flounder

Flounder is Ariel's best and most loyal friend. He loves to explore the depths of the ocean with her and collect human treasures. Like Ariel, Flounder is fascinated by human objects and longs to know what they do. Flounder is easily frightened, but he is also capable of great bravery—as long as the source of the danger he fears isn't too close! Flounder loves Ariel and would follow her anywhere, including to the surface. In fact, he helps her reach land when she trades her voice for legs. Flounder may be little, but he has a big heart!

Grimsby

Grimsby is Prince Eric's manservant and confidant. Where Eric goes, so goes Grimsby—even aboard Eric's ship, despite the fact that Grimsby suffers from seasickness. Although stuffy and uptight, Grimsby cares deeply for Eric. He wishes to see him married and cannot understand why Eric is so picky about selecting a wife. Grimsby is realistic. He does not believe the myths about the great King Triton and dismisses Eric's claim of being saved by a beautiful girl as a delusion caused by the prince's having swallowed too much seawater.

Max

Prince Eric's sheepdog, Max is a loyal part of the royal family. Playful and affectionate, Max takes an immediate liking to Ariel, whom he finds on the beach. But Max does not like just anyone. Upon meeting Vanessa, he begins to growl at her, clearly able to sense that she is not what she seems.

Ursula

Ursula is an incredibly powerful sea witch. Luring “poor, unfortunate souls” to her home, Ursula happily creates potions and casts spells. But her intentions are not so pure, and she goes out of her way to make sure her customers fail to live up to their ends of the bargains they’ve made. Ursula was banished from Atlantica by King Triton long ago and has held a grudge against him ever since. She sees Ariel’s love for Eric as her chance to get revenge and gain what she wants more than anything—power over the seas. Ursula easily convinces Ariel to make a deal with her. She then sets about making sure Ariel fails, even going so far as to disguise herself as a human named Vanessa to keep Eric from kissing Ariel. Although Ursula’s plot succeeds and she manages not only to trade Ariel’s soul for Triton’s but to take over as queen of Atlantica, she is ultimately defeated and killed by Prince Eric.

Character Biographies

Prince Eric

Eric is a hopeless romantic. He believes in love at first sight—or rather, sound. He knows he loves the girl who saved him from the shipwreck; he just doesn't know what she looks like. But he'll never forget the sound of her voice. Eric's big heart extends beyond just romantic love. He is also incredibly fond of his manservant, Grimsby, and is a loyal owner to his dog, Max. Eric is an accomplished mariner and an excellent flute player. Although he understands the responsibility that comes with being a prince and the future king, he remains lighthearted. He enjoys having a good time and encourages those around him to do the same. Eric easily falls under Ursula's spell, but true love ultimately wins out. He realizes that Ariel is the girl he loves and the two are married.

Sebastian

Sebastian is the court composer and one of King Triton's most trusted advisers. In fact, Triton gives Sebastian the job of keeping an eye on Ariel, a task the little crab takes quite seriously. Although Sebastian respects King Triton greatly, he also fears him, often worrying about what the king will do to him if he makes a mistake. Sebastian is highly intelligent and practical. Like King Triton, he dislikes the surface world. But for Sebastian, this dislike comes largely from a fear of being eaten! Despite his no-nonsense personality, Sebastian has a soft spot for Ariel. Although he often finds her short attention span and unwillingness to listen to her father frustrating, he takes it upon himself to help her once she becomes human and does his best to make Eric fall in love with her.

Aurora

Born into royalty, Princess Aurora is a beautiful, graceful, and sweet young woman. But Aurora did not grow up a princess. As a child, she was cursed by the evil fairy Maleficent. To keep her safe, Aurora's father sent her to the woods. There she was raised as a peasant girl named Briar Rose by the three good fairies Flora, Fauna, and Merryweather. Aurora has a steadfast heart, believes in true love, and longs to find a soul mate. A chance meeting with Prince Phillip in the woods causes her to throw caution to the wind (against the fairies' warnings about strangers). Soon after, she learns the truth of her birth and her peaceful life is plunged into turmoil. Returning to the castle for her sixteenth birthday, Aurora falls victim to Maleficent's curse.

Character Biographies

King Stefan

King Stefan is Aurora's father. His failure to invite Maleficent to Aurora's christening sets into action a series of events leading to Aurora's being cursed. Above all, King Stefan is a loving father. He cares deeply for his daughter and will do anything in his power to make sure she stays safe.

The Queen

The Queen is the loving wife of King Stefan and mother of Princess Aurora. She longs for a child of her own and is overjoyed when at last she gives birth to a beautiful daughter. But the Queen's happiness is short-lived, as her daughter is cursed by Maleficent and she must live the next sixteen years wondering if her daughter is alive and well.

Character Biographies

Flora

Dressed in red, Flora is the unofficial leader of the three good fairies. When Aurora was a baby, Flora blessed her with the gift of beauty. It is Flora's idea for the good fairies to disguise themselves as peasants and take the baby Aurora to live in the woods, away from magic. Later, Flora provides Prince Phillip with the Sword of Truth and the Shield of Virtue. Flora's favorite color is pink.

Fauna

The nicest and perhaps most absentminded of the three good fairies, Fauna believes in the goodness of everyone, even Maleficent. She thinks that reasoning with the evil fairy will be effective but is met with resistance from the other good fairies. Fauna bestows the gift of music on the young Aurora and raises her to love singing. Fauna wears green and acts as a peacemaker in the fairy household.

Merryweather

Merryweather is a little bit of a downer. She is very opinionated and tells the other fairies that she'd like to turn Maleficent into "a fat old hoptoad." She's the shortest, the roundest, and the youngest of the three. It is Merryweather who softens the curse on Aurora, changing the consequence of pricking her finger from death to an eternal slumber that can be broken only by True Love's Kiss. Merryweather dresses all in blue, her favorite color.

Character Biographies

King Hubert

King Hubert is a round and jolly king from a neighboring kingdom. He has a quick temper, but he is also quick to forgive. He is good friends with King Stefan and hopes to one day see their two kingdoms joined by the marriage of his son, Phillip, to Stefan's daughter, Aurora. King Hubert likes to eat almost as much as he likes to laugh. He is always holding some sort of food in his hand.

Prince Phillip

Prince Phillip believes that tradition should change with the times. Although he is betrothed to the missing Princess Aurora, he prefers to marry for love. Phillip is immediately enchanted by Briar Rose's singing and falls in love with the peasant girl. It is only later that he learns she is the princess he is betrothed to. Prince Phillip is charismatic. He can easily persuade people to agree with him. He's also brave and fearless. He sets off to rescue Aurora from the dreaded Maleficent without a moment's pause and successfully slays the evil fairy to awaken his true love.

Maleficent

Maleficent is the self-proclaimed mistress of all evil. A wicked fairy with green skin and black horns, Maleficent is feared by all in King Stefan's kingdom. Maleficent lives in a weathered castle at the top of the Forbidden Mountain. Her only companions are her raven and her henchmen, the goons. She is a proud fairy and does not take kindly to being denied the respect she believes she deserves. When she is not invited to Princess Aurora's christening, Maleficent gets revenge by cursing the child to death. Maleficent has a short temper. She flies off the handle easily and does not like being proven wrong. Eager to keep the princess from waking once she does fall into her enchanted slumber, Maleficent kidnaps Prince Phillip, even going so far as to turn herself into a dragon to keep him from Aurora. Ultimately, however, her cold heart proves no challenge for true love, and she is slain by the prince.

Character Biographies

The Goons

Maleficent's goons are an army of very simpleminded, bumbling creatures who live to follow her orders. However, they are rather unsuccessful at their job. They cannot think for themselves, and when they are ordered to look for Princess Aurora, they spend the next sixteen years looking for a baby. The goons come in all shapes and sizes: some resemble boars, some look like crocodiles, some are tall, and some are very round. They all have grayish skin and wear dark armor.

The Raven

Maleficent never goes anywhere without her beloved pet raven. Of all her servants, he is the most competent and the most loyal. The pair share genuine affection for each other, and he has her total trust. But Merryweather turns him into stone, and he will forever stay perched at the top of Maleficent's empty castle.

Belle

Despite her beauty, Belle is considered an outsider in her town. Her love of reading and unwavering devotion to her eccentric father, Maurice, make her what the townspeople consider “odd,” but that doesn’t mean they don’t like her. Belle is exceedingly kind. She always has something nice to say and cheerily greets everyone in town each morning. Belle dreams of something bigger than life in her small town. She wants adventure, like the kind she reads about in her books. Belle also knows what she doesn’t want: to be a housewife to the boorish Gaston, no matter how hard he tries to change her mind. In fact, Belle’s mind is one thing she is very sure of, and she is not afraid to share her opinion with anyone. Clever and strong-willed, Belle will stand up for herself no matter what. But her status as the town outsider has also taught her to look past what is on the surface and see the best in people, even the seemingly horrible Beast.

The Beast

Angry and rather violent, the Beast is at first glance just what his name implies: a beast. As a human prince, he was selfish and cold-hearted. It was these traits that brought on the Enchantress's curse. And his years of isolation in his palace have not helped soften him. If anything, his anger at his inability to break the curse and shame at his monstrous appearance have hardened him even more. The Beast is stubborn, gruff, quick to anger, and completely lacking in manners. But there is more hiding beneath the surface. In spite of his short temper, the Beast can actually be quite kind. He has been shown to have an incredibly gentle nature toward animals, including birds and horses, and he has a loving relationship with many of his servants. The more the Beast gets to know Belle, the more he wishes to make her feel welcome in his home. He gifts Belle his library simply because he knows it will make her happy, and he later allows her to leave the castle even though he knows it will likely result in his remaining a beast forever.

Character Biographies

The Wardrobe

The Wardrobe resides in Belle's bedroom and often serves as a sounding board for Belle. She tries to convince Belle that the Beast is not as bad as he seems and is instrumental in getting Belle ready for her dinner with the Beast. The Wardrobe lives for fashion and has the clothes to prove it—her drawers contain something for every occasion, and jewels to match! Like the other enchanted objects, the Wardrobe dreams of breaking the curse and returning to her human form.

Chip

A little teacup with a chip in his rim, Chip is one of Belle's closest friends in the castle. The two love to explore together. Chip is quite young and has retained his childish curiosity about the world. He is full of questions and always ready for adventure. He also has an incredibly active imagination—so much so that his mother at first didn't believe him when he told her there was a girl in the castle. In spite of his age and size, Chip is very brave. He even goes so far as to stow away in Belle's bag when she leaves the castle, and it is he who rescues Belle and Maurice when they are locked up by an angry mob.

Mrs. Potts

Mrs. Potts is the castle's cook. Along with Cogsworth, she keeps the castle running. Intelligent and level-headed, Mrs. Potts is perhaps the most reliable of the enchanted objects. She can always be counted on to do the right thing, regardless of any orders she may have received from the Beast. She is also the only member of the household who is willing to stand up to her master for his poor behavior. The Beast respects her for this and often changes his behavior as a result of her scolding. But it is not just the Beast she keeps in line. Mrs. Potts is not afraid to call out the other members of the castle staff—or her son, Chip—when they are doing something she doesn't approve of. Of all the enchanted objects, Mrs. Potts seems to understand the most about love. She takes Belle under her wing and carefully guides her toward liking, and eventually loving, the Beast.

Cogsworth

Cogsworth runs the Beast's castle. It is his job to keep everything in order and make sure the Beast remains happy. He takes this job seriously, and as such often comes across as rather stern and bossy. Although his desire to abide strictly by the rules often puts him at odds with Lumiere, the two are actually very close friends. Cogsworth is not against having fun. He does, however, try to avoid doing anything that may anger the Beast. Cogsworth is loyal to his master, but his loyalty seems largely tied to fear of the Beast's temper. In spite of this, Cogsworth does display a fondness for the Beast and often takes it upon himself to provide his master with a much-needed ego boost.

Lumiere

This candelabrum is one of the most welcoming enchanted objects in the Beast's castle. He eagerly invites Maurice to seek refuge in the castle and later treats Belle to a fantastic feast—against the orders of his master. Although he clearly cares about the Beast, Lumiere is also rather rebellious. He prefers to do things his own way, no matter what others may think or what orders he may have been given. In spite of this, the Beast often turns to Lumiere for advice, particularly on matters of the heart. Lumiere is in love with the idea of love, although he doesn't seem to fully understand it. He remains more hopeful than most that the Beast will one day find love and that the enchanted objects will be transformed back into humans.

Character Biographies

Philippe

Belle's trusty horse, Philippe, is really more like a family member than a pet. He seems able to understand Belle when she speaks to him, and it is he who leads her to the Beast's castle to rescue Maurice. But as loyal as Philippe may be to his family, he is also easily frightened, particularly by wolves. He flees the first time he encounters them, leaving Maurice stranded in the woods. When wolves attack him a second time, he bucks, dropping Belle into the snow.

Maurice

Maurice is generally considered the town kook. The villagers don't understand what drives this eccentric inventor and tend to look down on him. But Maurice doesn't care. He is proud of his inventions and is sure he will someday come up with something that will change his family's life for the better. The only thing Maurice loves more than inventing is his daughter, Belle. Maurice considers Belle to be his greatest accomplishment. He is exceedingly proud of the woman she has grown into and often tells her that she is perfect, no matter what others may say.

Gaston

Big and brawny, this oversized hunter has an equally oversized ego! He is sure he is better than everyone else, and he's not afraid who knows it. Luckily for Gaston, most of the townspeople seem to agree. Gaston is the town hero. The only person put off by Gaston's arrogance is Belle, the very woman he wishes to marry. Gaston believes that a woman's primary purpose is to have and raise children. He does not believe women should have ideas of their own and particularly frowns on the idea of reading, as it distracts them from more important things—like flattering him! Unfortunately for him, Belle disagrees. This does not sit well with Gaston, who is not used to hearing the word no.

Character Biographies

Monsieur D'Arque

Proprietor of the local mental hospital, Asylum de Loons, Monsieur D'Arque is a cold, callous man who seems to take pleasure in other people's pain. He is also driven by greed. In exchange for proper compensation, he happily signs on to Gaston's plan to lock up Maurice in the asylum unless Belle agrees to marry Gaston. Later, Monsieur D'Arque assures Belle that Maurice will be "well taken care of"—but the sinister way he says it implies that his inmates may be subject to some very poor treatment indeed.

LeFou

Although he comes across as a bit of a bumbling fool, LeFou is actually quite clever. In fact, it is he who tricks Maurice into telling the villagers about the Beast. In spite of Gaston's negative treatment of him, LeFou is loyal to his friend. He looks up to Gaston as his hero and does as he is told, usually without question. But that doesn't mean LeFou is above making fun of Gaston. He's been known on occasion to laugh at or make snarky comments about his friend, although he usually gets hit by Gaston as a result.

Character Biographies

The Bimbettes

These identical triplets live in the same village as Belle and work as waitresses in a local tavern. The three are infatuated with Gaston and dream of marrying their hero, even if he barely seems to know they exist. Like Gaston, who admires Belle solely for her beauty, the Bimbettes seem more focused on Gaston's appearance than on his behavior. They think Belle is crazy for not admiring him the way they do, and they continue to pursue him in spite of his determination to marry Belle.

The Enchantress

The Enchantress possesses incredible powers. She is able to transform both herself and others into different forms and can also see people's true feelings and desires. It was her reading of the Prince as a selfish young man that motivated her to visit him and ultimately curse his entire castle. But the Enchantress is not without sympathy and clearly believes in second chances. It is for this reason that she grants the Beast a way to break the curse: learning to love and being loved in return.

Cinderella

Cinderella's mother died when she was just a young girl. Her father, believing his daughter needed a mother, married Lady Tremaine and brought her and her daughters to live with the family. But when Cinderella's father died, too, Lady Tremaine took over the household, making Cinderella no more than a serving girl in her own home. Cinderella's only friends are her dog, Bruno, and the mice and birds that live in her attic room. She enjoys sewing little outfits for the mice and always makes sure to save them some food. In spite of the harsh treatment she receives from her stepfamily, Cinderella remains a kind, loving girl. She makes the most of her situation and remains hopeful that she will one day find love and be whisked away from her evil stepfamily. Her life is turned upside down in the best way possible when an invitation comes from the King for all eligible maidens to attend a ball at the palace.

Character Biographies

Anastasia

Slender with fair skin and red hair, Anastasia is known for always wearing shades of pink and magenta. She is Cinderella's stepsister and seems to take great joy in tormenting her. Anastasia has grown up pampered by her mother. As a result, she is lazy, selfish, and spoiled. She has grown accustomed to having Cinderella do everything for her. But Anastasia is not all bad. She has a romantic side and dreams of finding someone who will love her for who she really is.

Drizella

Drizella is tall and skinny, with dark brown hair. She is known for wearing shades of yellow, blue, and green. Unlike her sister, who does have a soft side, Drizella is ugly inside and out. She is jealous of Cinderella's beauty and would happily do anything to ruin her stepsister's life. Drizella is incredibly vain. She is sure she is one of the most beautiful maidens in the land and that the Prince will fall in love with her. Drizella learned about what's important from her mother. As far as she's concerned, the only thing that matters is marrying well and improving her social standing.

Lady Tremaine

Lady Tremaine is the epitome of grace and self-control. She believes that a lady must keep her composure at all times, as she frequently reminds her daughters. Lady Tremaine's chief goal in life is to see her daughters married well. She envies Cinderella's charm and beauty, and sees the girl as competition for her daughters. As far as she's concerned, the best way to remove the competition is to remove Cinderella from the social class in which she and her daughters travel. As a servant, Cinderella would not be of any interest to the men who might woo Anastasia and Drizella. Although she never physically hurts Cinderella, Lady Tremaine knows how to manipulate a situation to inflict the maximum amount of emotional pain. She expects absolute obedience from all three of her daughters and grows infuriated when any of them disobeys her.

Character Biographies

Lucifer

Lucifer is Lady Tremaine's extremely spoiled cat. His only loyalty is to his mistress, who pampers him and treats him like royalty. Lucifer takes after Lady Tremaine and seems to have an extreme dislike for Cinderella. He tries to get her into trouble and often seems to go out of his way to make her life more difficult. But he has also shown dislike for Lady Tremaine's daughters. Lucifer is clever and cunning. His greatest joy in life is to track down and try to eat the mice that Cinderella takes care of.

Bruno

Cinderella has had Bruno ever since she was a young girl. The two grew up together under the cruel hand of Lady Tremaine. Bruno is very loyal to Cinderella. He dislikes Anastasia and Drizella for the way they treat her and has little patience for Lucifer. This seems to go both ways, as Lucifer is always coming up with plans to get Bruno in trouble and have him kicked out of the house.

Jaq

Jaq is the leader of Cinderella's mouse friends. He is the one who finds Gus and tells Cinderella there is a new mouse in the house. He is also the first mouse to confront Lucifer and the only one willing to take the cat on. Jaq can be recognized by his orange jacket, red hat and turtleneck, and high-pitched voice. He is incredibly fond of Cinderella—or Cinderelly, as he calls her—and looks up to her like a mother or a big sister.

Gus

Gus, or Gus-Gus, as he's sometimes known, is Jaq's best friend. This chubby mouse is a bit dim-witted. Other than his friends, the most important thing to him is making sure his belly is full. This has been known to cause problems, and Gus has had more than one run-in with Lucifer. In fact, Gus is Lucifer's favorite target. The mean-spirited cat is sure the extra-plump mouse would make an extra-filling meal. Despite his easygoing demeanor, Gus is incredibly brave. He would do anything for Cinderella, even stand up to Lucifer.

The King

The King has a passionate temper. He has been known to be fairly unreasonable in his requests, and grows quite angry when things do not go his way. But he is also a romantic and a believer in love at first sight. The King had a very close relationship with his son when the Prince was young, but they grew apart as the Prince grew older. More than anything, he wants his son to marry and have children. Although this desire is in part due to a wish to see his son happy, the King will readily admit that he misses the sound of children running through the halls of the palace and wants dearly to be a grandfather.

Prince Charming

In spite of his power and royal status, the Prince is far from shallow. He judges people more by their personality and behavior than by their social standing. Still a young man, the Prince is not eager to marry. He is, in fact, downright rebellious when his father tells him it is time to settle down, and he only goes along with the ball because he has no other choice. Throughout the ball, he is seen to be yawning sarcastically, rolling his eyes, and glaring at his father. In spite of being surrounded by beautiful women who would happily be his princess, the Prince remains unimpressed by his prospects—at least until Cinderella shows up.

The Grand Duke

The Grand Duke is a dignified, intelligent subject to the King. He bases his opinions largely on reason and logic, in direct contrast to the King's emotionally driven decision-making. Although he doesn't always agree with the services the King asks him to perform, the Grand Duke is loyal to the King and does as he's told—possibly because he fears the King's wrath. However, he does seem to genuinely care about the King, as he tries to act as a voice of reason and worries about the King's blood pressure. The two often seem more like friendly rivals than ruler and subject. They seem to enjoy fighting about their differences and seeing who can predict the outcome of certain events. Although the Grand Duke is happy to boast when he is right, he is unlikely to kick up a fuss when he's wrong.

The Fairy Godmother

Cinderella's fairy godmother is a kind, motherly woman with a pure heart and an optimistic outlook on life. Though wise in her own way, she has a tendency to forget important details—like where she put her wand and what her magic words are—and overlook things that would be obvious to anyone else. But once she remembers what she's doing, the Fairy Godmother is quick to act. She is also capable of incredible magic, even if it does have a time limit. The Fairy Godmother believes in helping those in need. She does not look kindly on people—or animals—who are cruel to others.

Jasmine

As the daughter of the Sultan and princess of Agrabah, Jasmine leads an isolated life. Her mother died when Jasmine was a child, and her only companions are her father and her pet tiger, Rajah. Although she lives a luxurious life, Jasmine feels suffocated by her circumstances. She longs to be free and see the world, but her status as a princess means she is forbidden from leaving the confines of the palace. Jasmine is fiercely independent, often stubborn, and unafraid to speak her mind, no matter whom she is fighting. But beneath this, she is incredibly compassionate. Jasmine wants to do right by her kingdom and her subjects, just not at the expense of her own freedom.

Aladdin

Aladdin is a street rat who dreams of having more. Aladdin lives on the streets of Agrabah with his monkey friend, Abu. The two do what they need to survive, which usually means stealing food from street vendors. Aladdin is quick-fingered and fast on his feet. He has to be to stay ahead of the palace guards. Aladdin's world is turned upside down when he is tricked by the Sultan's vizier, the evil Jafar, into stealing a magical lamp. With the help of the genie in the lamp, Aladdin manages to defeat Jafar and win the heart of Princess Jasmine.

Character Biographies

The Genie

The Genie is one of the most powerful beings in the universe. He can shape-shift into almost anything, escape a magically sealed cave, and provide others with great powers, to name just a few abilities. Trapped in his lamp for over ten thousand years, the Genie relishes the opportunity to entertain his masters. He is a showman at heart and will do almost anything for a laugh. He is also an incredibly devoted friend. Although the Genie's body is confined to the lamp, his mind is not.

Abu

A mischievous monkey with a greedy streak a mile long, Abu is Aladdin's best friend and partner in crime. Unlike Aladdin, who steals to survive, Abu steals simply because he can't help himself. He tries to take anything that grabs his eye, from food to clothes to money. Abu values his friendship with Aladdin above all and is willing to go to great extremes to ensure Aladdin's happiness. In spite of his many vices, Abu is soft at heart, having shown a willingness to share his stolen goods with those more in need than himself.

The Magic Carpet

The Magic Carpet is a sometimes shy, sometimes bold, always clever enchanted object. For thousands of years it lived in the Cave of Wonders—until it was released by Aladdin and Abu. The Magic Carpet is a fiercely loyal friend and a romantic. It saves Aladdin on more than one occasion and even gives him the nudge he needs to kiss Jasmine for the first time. The Carpet is highly intelligent and often seems to understand what is going on before anyone else. Although it is not able to speak, it conveys its emotions in other ways, often using its tassels as hands and feet to act out what it wants to say. The carpet is fond of playing with (and playing tricks on) Abu and beating the Genie at chess.

Character Biographies

Rajah

Rajah is a Bengal tiger and Princess Jasmine's oldest friend. Rajah is fiercely protective of and incredibly loyal to Jasmine. He happily chases away her suitors and even aids in her escape from the palace.

The Sultan

The Sultan is the ruler of Agrabah and Princess Jasmine's father. He is a kind and fair—if rather bumbling—ruler. The Sultan spends the majority of his time ensuring that the laws and traditions of his kingdom are kept up. He lost his wife when Jasmine was young and has since been particularly focused on the law stating that his daughter must marry by the time she turns sixteen. He explains this obsession away by telling Jasmine that he wants to know she will be taken care of, and he tries time and time again to push suitors on her. A bit childish in nature, he finds endless entertainment in shoving crackers into the mouth of Jafar's parrot, Iago, and is easily manipulated and hypnotized by Jafar.

Jafar

Jafar is the royal vizier of Agrabah. He is the Sultan's most trusted advisor and the second-most powerful man in Agrabah. Jafar is also an evil sorcerer. He has spent a lifetime searching for the Cave of Wonders, eager to get his hands on the magic lamp inside so he may become sultan. Jafar is tall, thin, and completely bald, though he usually hides his head under his hat. He carries a staff with the head of a snake, which he uses to hypnotize the Sultan, and is usually accompanied by his parrot, Iago. Jafar's drive for power ultimately backfires when he gets his hands on the lamp and wishes to be a genie, accidentally sentencing himself to a life inside his own magical lamp.

Iago

Iago is the evil sorcerer Jafar's sidekick. Often seen on Jafar's shoulder, the bird is cunning and mischievous. In fact, he is the one who gives Jafar the idea to marry Jasmine to become sultan. Iago is incredibly sarcastic and known to rant when angry. One of his biggest pet peeves is being fed crackers by the Sultan. He gets revenge by shoving crackers into the Sultan's mouth when the Sultan is under Jafar's spell. Iago speaks perfect English, although he hides this ability from everyone but Jafar, and can imitate anyone's voice. He proves this by imitating Jasmine to steal the magic lamp from Aladdin.

Quotes

"Some say our destiny is tied to the land, as much a part of us as we are of it. Others say fate is woven together like a cloth so that one's destiny intertwines with many others. It's the one thing we search for, or fight to change. Some never find it. But there are some who are led." –Merida

"I'm the princess. I'm the example. I've got duties, responsibilities, expectations. My whole life is planned out." –Merida

"I want my freedom." –Merida

"I am Merida, firstborn descendant of Clan DunBroch, and I'll be shooting for my own hand." –Merida

"Might our young people decide for themselves who they will love?" –Merida

"It was an alliance forged in bravery and friendship, and it lives to this day." –Merida

"There are those who say fate is something beyond our command, that destiny is not our own, but I know better. Our fate lives within us. You only have to be brave enough to see it." –Merida

"But every once in a while, there's a day when I don't have to be a princess. No lessons, no expectations. A day where anything can happen. A day I can change my fate." –Merida

Merida

Headstrong and independent, Merida wants to do things her own way. Although she has a close relationship with her father and brothers, Merida's relationship with her mother is strained. She hates having to behave like a proper lady and finds the social etiquette her mother tries to teach her tedious. She also feels that her mother puts far too much emphasis on custom and what is expected of her as a princess, with no allowance for having fun. Merida would much rather spend her days in the woods, riding her horse, Angus, and practicing her archery. Despite her distaste for cultural customs, Merida is not totally willing to disregard the myths of her land. She finds the wisps intriguing and boldly follows them when they appear.

King Fergus

King Fergus is a loud, jolly man who gets along with most anyone. Although he often gets annoyed at the antics of his triplet sons, he knows how to have a good time and is actually quite patient. King Fergus loves fighting and is very happy to have raised a daughter who will stand up for herself. Although Fergus's marriage to his wife, Elinor, was arranged, he loves her dearly. The fact that the two are polar opposites only serves to make their marriage stronger. As a young man, Fergus lost one of his legs in a fight with a bear named Mor'du. As a result, he hates all bears—but he loves telling the tale of the battle.

Character Biographies

Angus

Black as night with a white muzzle and hooves, Angus is Merida's best friend and most trusted confidant. Like his mistress, Angus has a tendency to be stubborn. He has also shown himself at times to be easily scared. But Angus would never allow his fear to stop him from protecting Merida. He is fiercely loyal to her, as she is to him. The two share a strong, loving bond, so much so that Merida will not allow anyone else to see to his care.

Harris, Hubert, and Hamish

Merida's three younger brothers are always ready to stir up a little mischief. The identical triplets never speak, and only Merida and her mother can tell them apart. While Merida is expected to act like a lady, her brothers run around the castle causing trouble. The three love a good prank, from tying Fergus's wooden leg to the table to instigating a brawl between visiting lords. They are also particularly fond of sweets and can often be bribed to behave with the promise of dessert.

Queen Elinor

Elinor is elegant and ladylike, as she believes a queen should be. She understands that her role in the kingdom is that of a diplomat and often steps in to resolve quarrels between her husband and neighboring lords. Her position requires her to be strict and stubborn—especially with Merida, whom she educates in the customs and traditions of their people. Elinor thinks that knowing her kingdom’s history is important, as there is much to learn from the past, and she believes strongly that people should follow the path laid out for them rather than blazing their own way. She expects Merida to act like a princess and does not take kindly to Merida’s insistence that she wants to do things differently. Like Merida, Elinor is strong-willed. However, she approaches challenges with the calmness befitting a queen rather than the rashness often shown by her daughter. It is not until she is turned into a bear, and later back into a human, that Elinor comes to accept the idea of Merida’s following her own path.

Character Biographies

Lord and Wee Dingwall

The scrappy, quick-tempered Lord Dingwall never lets his diminutive stature get in the way of solving problems. He wishes to be in charge at all times, loves a high-spirited fight, and has no problem taking on even the burliest adversary. Wee Dingwall, on the other hand, while loyal to his father, doesn't seem to have the same fighting spirit. He spends most of his time with his head in the clouds, unaware of what is going on around him. Any success he has—as in the archery competition, when he is vying for Merida's hand in marriage—seems entirely accidental.

Lord and Young MacGuffin

Lord MacGuffin is a man of few words, but those he does speak demand respect. He is considered the most reasonable and even-tempered of the kingdom's three lords. Lord MacGuffin likes to laugh, and little makes him laugh harder than a good brawl. His son, Young MacGuffin, is a calm, gentle lad. In spite of his great size and strength, he is incredibly shy and hates being the center of attention. Young MacGuffin speaks in a Scottish dialect that almost no one can understand and relies on his father to translate for him.

Mor'du

Once an arrogant prince, Mor'du now lives his life as a monstrous bear. As a human, he allowed his pride to drive a rift between himself and his family. Unwilling to mend the bond he had broken, Mor'du found himself cursed to remain a bear forever. Although Mor'du is covered in black fur, his body features numerous scars—the result of his battles with humans, including King Fergus, over the years. He has one glowing yellow eye and one dead red eye. He has the strength of ten men and can only be stopped at last by another bear—Elinor, whose humanity shines through as she protects her daughter.

Lord and Young Macintosh

The Macintosh clan hails from the Scottish highlands. Lord Macintosh's body is covered in blue paint, and he usually wears a savage smile. A proud man, Lord Macintosh is quick to take offense at any perceived slight and is ready to jump into battle at any moment. Luckily, his bark is worse than his bite. His son, Young Macintosh, is incredibly sure of himself and his abilities, so much so that he often comes across as arrogant. He is also rather melodramatic and does not take well to losing. In spite of this, he is seemingly a kind man. He is incredibly loyal to his father and appears to value his friendships with Young MacGuffin and Wee Dingwall.

Character Biographies

The Witch

The Witch is a wood-carver by trade. She lives in a small hut in the woods with her pet crow and relies on her knowledge of magic to help with her work. Although she dislikes being asked to do magic for others, she is willing to perform her spells for a fee. The Witch is neither good nor bad. She simply gives her customers what they want—although not always in the way they may expect.

Maudie

As nursemaid to Merida's three younger brothers, Maudie has her hands full. In addition to her duties caring for the children of the castle, she has also been seen to deliver messages to Queen Elinor. Maudie is easily frightened, and as a result has a hard time keeping the triplets in line. But she cares about the children and at times even serves as a sounding board for Merida.

Mulan

Mulan has always struggled to fit in. She wants to remain true to herself, but finds it a challenge to do so while still bringing her family honor. When her disabled father is ordered to serve in the Imperial army against the Huns, Mulan seizes the opportunity to do something good for her family. Cutting off her hair and disguising herself as a man, Mulan sets off to join the army in her father's place. As a member of the army, Mulan shows incredible bravery in fighting against the Huns. During the battle, however, her lie is revealed and she is released from service. But Mulan is persistent. When she sees a threat coming, she warns her commander, Shang, even though he no longer wishes to speak to her. She also devises a plan to save the Emperor from Shan-Yu, defeating the villain once and for all in the process. When she returns home, Mulan realizes that she has managed to bring her family honor by being true to herself.

Character Biographies

Mushu

For years Mushu acted as a guardian to the Fa family. But when a member of the family was killed in battle on Mushu's watch, the little dragon was demoted to gong ringer and incense burner. More than anything, Mushu wants to be a guardian for the Fa family again. When Mulan runs away from home, he takes it upon himself to watch over her. He hopes that doing so will allow him to resume his former position. Although Mushu's schemes to help Mulan often go awry, his loyalty to her outweighs his personal agenda. It is this loyalty that eventually earns him back the role of guardian.

Cri-Kee

Cri-Kee is a lucky cricket who may not actually be so lucky. Grandmother Fa gives him to Mulan to bring her luck with the Matchmaker, an encounter that ends in disaster. Cri-Kee then accompanies Mulan when she takes her father's place in the Imperial army. He is deeply loyal to Mulan, and although he is skeptical of Mushu at first, they eventually become good friends.

Character Biographies

Fa Li

Fa Li is Mulan's loving mother. She loves her family dearly and wants to help Mulan bring honor to their family. She supports both her husband and her daughter and spends a lot of her time helping care for Grandmother Fa.

Fa Zhou

Fa Zhou is Mulan's father. He's also "the Fa Zhou," a well-known war hero. Fa Zhou has grown older and now walks with a crutch. To him, nothing is more important than family honor. When the Huns invade China, he is willing to serve his country and protect his family again, even though he knows he is unlikely to survive battle.

The Emperor

The Emperor rules over China justly and loves all his citizens. He is fearless in the face of danger. When Shan-Yu takes him hostage, he refuses to bow to him. The Emperor is one of the first people to recognize Mulan's bravery. While he will not bow to Shan-Yu, he happily bows to Mulan, showing her respect and honor after she saves him and China.

Grandmother Fa

Grandmother Fa is the oldest member of the Fa family. As such, she has a connection to the Fa ancestors that no one else can share. Grandmother Fa is very knowledgeable about traditions and believes strongly in good luck, as she proves when she gives Mulan a lucky cricket. She has learned that at her age there is no point in holding back and will happily speak her mind to anyone who will listen—and some who would prefer not to!

Shan-Yu

Shan-Yu is the ruthless leader of the Huns. He and his army invade China, burning and pillaging villages along the way to the Emperor's palace. Shan-Yu is a highly skilled warrior and possesses superhuman strength. He is not above killing his enemies in cold blood just to show his strength and is unlikely to show mercy to anyone who stands up to him. Unlike other warriors of his time, Shan-Yu does not underestimate the power of a woman. As far as he is concerned, a warrior is a warrior, whether male or female.

Li Shang

Li Shang is the son of the great General Li, the leader of the Imperial army. As captain, it is Shang's job to train and lead the new recruits—including Mulan. Shang takes protecting China from the Huns very seriously. He is tough on his troops, leading them through a series of rigorous training exercises. Shang is also very brave—he is prepared to die in the fight against the Huns. Although Shang is angry when he learns that Mulan has deceived him, he gets over his anger for the sake of protecting the country he loves. Shang even helps Mulan defeat Shan-Yu and save the Emperor. Impressed by Mulan's bravery and heroism, he falls in love with her and comes to visit her at the Fa household once the Huns are defeated.

Pocahontas

The daughter of Chief Powhatan, Pocahontas believes in listening to her heart and following her own path. When her father tells her that she is to marry Kocoum, she refuses. She doesn't believe that marrying the brave warrior is the right path for her. Pocahontas communes with nature—often taking advice from the wise Grandmother Willow—and enjoys spending time with her animal friends Meeko and Flit. She is free-spirited and curious, always wanting to know what's around the river bend. When she meets the English settler John Smith, Pocahontas is curious about his world, as he is about hers. She teaches him about the beauty and importance of nature and soon finds herself falling in love with the foreigner. Pocahontas bravely throws herself in front of John Smith to prevent her father from executing him. Her selfless cry for peace stops a war between the settlers and her tribe.

Flit

Flit is Pocahontas's ruby-throated hummingbird friend. He is very stubborn. He wants Pocahontas to always be safe. Although he distrusts John Smith at first, Flit eventually warms up to him.

Meeko

Meeko is Pocahontas's mischievous raccoon friend. He can often be found looking for food, which frequently gets him in trouble. He especially loves John Smith's biscuits!

Character Biographies

Powhatan

Powhatan is Pocahontas's father and the chief of the Powhatan tribe. He is a powerful, well-respected warrior, and his people consider him to be a great leader. Although he is initially skeptical of the settlers, he later comes around to them—thanks to Pocahontas.

Grandmother Willow

The ancient and wise Grandmother Willow is a talking willow tree. She often gives Pocahontas advice. Despite her age, Grandmother Willow still has plenty of snap left in her vines, and her bark is worse than her bite! No matter what advice she gives, she always has Pocahontas's best interests at heart.

Character Biographies

Kocoum

Kocoum is one of the tribe's best warriors. He is quiet and distant, and while Pocahontas admires his bravery, she does not want to marry him as her father wishes. Kocoum dies trying to protect Pocahontas, showing just how much he respects and cares for her.

Nakoma

Nakoma is Pocahontas's best friend. Although she might not always understand her friend's adventurous spirit and curiosity, she will always be loyal to Pocahontas.

John Smith

John Smith is a handsome English soldier who travels with the Virginia Company to help found the colony of Jamestown. He is extremely courageous—on the voyage over, he rescues a young man named Thomas after he falls overboard into the ocean. Due to Smith's past expedition experience, Governor Ratcliffe appoints him captain to make sure everything goes smoothly with the native people. Although Smith is prejudiced toward the Powhatan tribe at first, Pocahontas teaches him about her world, and he is able to see the wisdom of her people. When Ratcliffe fires his gun at Chief Powhatan, John Smith selflessly knocks the chief out of the way, taking a bullet to the shoulder. He is sent back to England to be treated for his injury.

Character Biographies

Percy

Percy is Governor Ratcliffe's pampered pug. Percy lives an extravagant life, spoiled by such luxuries as his own personal tub and a carousel of dog bones. Although he is Ratcliffe's pet, Percy receives most of his attention and care from Ratcliffe's servant, Wiggins. When Ratcliffe returns to England, Percy chooses to remain behind, having become close friends with Pocahontas's animal friends Meeko and Flit.

Governor John Ratcliffe

Governor Ratcliffe is the greedy and power-hungry leader of the Jamestown settlers. He wants to find gold more than anything else in the world. When he encounters Chief Powhatan and his tribe, he believes they are hiding gold from him. Ratcliffe is willing to do whatever it takes to find that gold—even if it means war. Although outwardly Ratcliffe is a strong figure, privately he displays great doubt about his abilities. He hides this, ensuring that his inferiors never see his insecurity or have reason to question him.

Rapunzel

Rapunzel was kidnapped as a baby and raised in a tower, believing Mother Gothel was her real mother. Eager to keep Rapunzel locked up, Mother Gothel taught her to fear the outside world. Despite her upbringing, Rapunzel is down-to-earth, creative, fun-loving, friendly, and brave. She also has magical hair that glows when she sings a special song and can heal any ailment, including old age. For eighteen years, Rapunzel had one dream: to see the lights that rose into the air every year on her birthday. Thanks to Flynn Rider, Rapunzel finally made that dream come true—and learned that she is the kingdom's lost princess. Now it's time for Rapunzel to find a new dream, a task she'll undertake with Flynn and her parents at her side.

Character Biographies

Pascal

Pascal has been Rapunzel's best friend and only real companion for years. They do everything together, and he's very protective of her. Pascal is a small green chameleon with big eyes and a very expressive face. He can change colors at will, which makes him a worthy hide-and-seek opponent. He doesn't use words to communicate. Instead, he mimes actions, makes noises, and utilizes his ability to change color.

Maximus

More capable than any human soldier, Maximus the horse's greatest ambition is to catch wanted criminals. He is determined and tough, stopping at nothing to get his man. Despite his devotion to his job, Max has a soft spot for Rapunzel. He even agrees to wait one day to arrest Flynn so that Rapunzel can see the floating lights. Max also has a soft spot for apples and has been known to overlook the occasional indiscretion in exchange for his favorite treat. Having helped Rapunzel achieve her dream, Max has returned to the kingdom as captain of the guard.

Flynn Rider (Eugene Fitzherbert)

Eugene Fitzherbert grew up in an orphanage, reading tales of the swashbuckling Flynnigan Rider and dreaming of having enough money to do anything he wanted. When he grew up, Eugene changed his name to Flynn Rider and became the kingdom's most notorious thief. Though he's arrogant and untrustworthy, there's no question Flynn can really turn on the charm when he needs to. Unfortunately for him, his charm doesn't work on Rapunzel, and he finds himself leading her into the kingdom—the one place he is trying desperately to avoid. It's only as Flynn gets to know Rapunzel that his true self comes out. Flynn is unflaggingly loyal to Rapunzel. He would do anything for her, and does—literally dying to protect her before Rapunzel's magic brings him back to life. Flynn now lives in the castle with Rapunzel and once again goes by Eugene.

Hook Hand

Hook Hand is one of the many pub thugs who spend their time at the Snuggly Duckling. A large bald man with a thin mustache and a hook on his left hand, Hook Hand carries an axe wherever he goes. But as fearsome as he seems, this pub thug is not all bad. He dreams of one day being a concert pianist!

The Stabbington Brothers

Flynn's onetime criminal partners, the Stabbington brothers want nothing more than to kill Flynn and take back the crown he stole from them. They're not very bright and are easily deceived, but they are big, dangerous, and mean!

Character Biographies

Atilla

Atilla is a tall, muscular pub thug who wears a vest with leather armor across his chest and a helmet that he never takes off. Although he seems scary, Atilla has a sweet side. He loves to bake, and makes a mean cupcake!

Big Nose

Big Nose is a good-natured pub thug who just wants to find love. As his name implies, Big Nose has an excessively large nose. He knows he may not be the most attractive man around, but he hopes that one day a woman will fall in love with him for his inner beauty.

Mother Gothel

Mother Gothel is the sly villain who raised Rapunzel. She is manipulative, selfish, and excellent at guilt-tripping Rapunzel. She is also incredibly dramatic and vain. Although she seems dedicated to keeping her adopted daughter safe, Mother Gothel's real interest lies in making sure she never loses access to the power of Rapunzel's hair, which keeps her young. Mother Gothel has spent years lying to Rapunzel, but when the truth comes to light, Mother Gothel's world crumbles around her—literally. The power leaves Rapunzel's hair and Mother Gothel ages until she withers away to no more than dust.

Snow White

She's been called "the fairest one of all," but Snow White is best known for her kindness to all living things, her motherly nature, and her sweet voice. Ever optimistic, she makes the best of any situation. Even though her wicked stepmother plans to kill her and she is forced to flee the castle, she makes a happy home with her new dwarf friends. Snow White is quick to smile and quick to laugh. Rather than letting Grumpy's attitude toward her get her down, Snow White playfully teases the dwarf until he, too, comes to love her. Snow White dreams of finding love someday, and she isn't shy about sharing this hope with others. The Queen uses this knowledge to her advantage to trick Snow White into eating a poisoned apple. Luckily for Snow White, the apple doesn't kill her. She is woken from her deathly slumber by a charming prince and rides off into the sunset with him.

Character Biographies

The Prince

The Prince loves music, and he falls in love with Snow White's voice before he even sees her! They sing a duet upon their first meeting, but they don't get to see each other again until he saves her with Love's First Kiss. The Prince is romantic and handsome. He's tall, with brown hair and blue eyes, and he often wears a blue top with a red cape. He also never gives up: even though he only saw Snow White once, he keeps on searching until he finds her again.

The Magic Mirror

The Magic Mirror is housed in an intricate frame. The face inside resembles a dramatic green-and-blue-hued mask with purple lips. The Magic Mirror is a slave to the Queen, compelled to come when she calls and tell her the honest truth—whether she likes it or not.

The Queen

A cruel and ruthless monarch and Snow White's stepmother, the Queen is more preoccupied with being the most beautiful in the land than with governing her subjects. Every day she asks the Magic Mirror who is the fairest in the land, and every day the mirror assures her that it is she. Indeed, the Queen is beautiful, but her expression is sour, and so is her mood. The Queen has been jealous of her stepdaughter's beauty since Snow White was a young girl. When the Magic Mirror tells the Queen that Snow White is more beautiful than she, the Queen flies into a fit of rage. She will do anything to be considered the most beautiful—even murder her stepdaughter. The Queen possesses strong magic, which she uses to disguise herself as the Witch and try to kill Snow White. Although she succeeds in tricking Snow White into eating a poisoned apple, the Witch is chased off a cliff by the Dwarfs. Ironically, as a result of her magic, the Queen dies not as the most beautiful woman in the land, but as the ugliest.

Sleepy

Sleepy's favorite thing to do is sleep. Always yawning, with dark, drooping circles under his eyes, he seems ready to fall asleep at a moment's notice. As a result, he moves a bit slower than the other dwarfs. Sleepy's slow reflexes mean he tends to injure himself often. He just can't get out of his own way in time. But Sleepy is not dim-witted. It is he who understands the animals have come to warn them that Snow White is in danger when the Witch is at their cottage.

Grumpy

As his name implies, Grumpy is . . . well, grumpy. He is a dwarf with a short temper, a large red nose, and a permanent scowl on his face. He wears a red top and a brown hat, and he has a long beard. Despite his disposition, Grumpy has a heart of gold and really does care for Snow White. Other than Snow White, the only thing Grumpy truly has a fondness for is his pipe organ, which he is quite good at playing!

Doc

The self-proclaimed leader of the Dwarfs, Doc is intelligent but pompous, and he sometimes stutters. According to Grumpy, Doc sputters like a doodlebug. He also mixes up his words, saying things like “Search every crook and nanny!” But he’s still totally in charge. Doc is rational, organized, and kind. Although often at odds with Grumpy, Doc actually gets along quite well with his fellow dwarf.

Dopey

Dopey is the youngest of the Seven Dwarfs. He is playful and eager, with big, protruding ears and a bald head under his purple cap. His green top is way too big for him, and he’s always tripping over it. Dopey acts more like a child than the adult he is. Luckily, the other dwarfs don’t seem too bothered by his silly antics. Dopey never speaks, but that doesn’t mean he can’t. Happy says he’s just never tried to before.

Character Biographies

Bashful

Bashful, the shyest of the Dwarfs, tends to keep to himself. Any interaction he has may lead to a reddening face, which causes him to hide behind his beard in between giggles. He's a bit of a romantic, and he loves the idea of true love. Bashful wears a green cap and a yellow top, and he has a long beard and a big nose.

Sneezy

Sneezy has constant, severe hay fever, which makes him sneeze a lot. His sneezes are powerful, too; they can blow away anything and anyone. Sneezzy's affliction makes it a little difficult for him to hold a conversation. He's a friendly, fun-loving dwarf, and he plays along with Dopey's antics.

Happy

Happy is by far the friendliest of the Dwarfs, as he shows when he warmly welcomes Snow White to their home. Hearty and cheerful, Happy tends to giggle a lot. He's also known as the singer of the bunch.

Dr. Facilier   Lawrence   Mama Odie   Big Daddy   James   Eudora   Prince Naveen   Tiana   Ray   Charlotte LaBouff   Louis

Character Biographies

Tiana

Tiana is a bright, resourceful, enterprising nineteen-year-old who has big dreams of one day opening her very own New Orleans restaurant. Inspired by her late father, she knows everything about cooking and running a business, but she still faces enormous obstacles. She works multiple waitressing jobs, saving every penny (with no time for romance or any kind of social life), determined to overcome all trials and tribulations and see her dream come true. It is only when she is accidentally turned into a frog that Tiana learns that love is as important as hard work. Later, as a princess, Tiana lives with her husband, Prince Naveen, and runs her very own restaurant, Tiana's Palace.

Character Biographies

Big Daddy

Eli “Big Daddy” LaBouff is Charlotte’s father. He’s incredibly wealthy, imposing, and powerful, but he is also always ready with a hearty laugh. This jovial fellow indulges the whims of his headstrong daughter. More than anything, Big Daddy loves to spoil Charlotte. He can’t help it. Seeing her happy makes him happy. Big Daddy is also very fond of Tiana. He has known her since she was a girl and considers her part of the family.

Charlotte LaBouff

Tiana’s friend since childhood, Charlotte is the spoiled Southern debutante daughter of “Big Daddy” LaBouff, the richest man in all of Louisiana. Since she was four years old, Charlotte has dreamed of one day marrying a prince and becoming a genuine princess. Now eighteen, she sees an opportunity to make her fairy-tale dream come true and is determined to make it happen. But as much as Charlotte longs to see her dream become a reality, she is not willing to do so at the expense of her best friend. Tiana is more important to Charlotte than anyone else, and she willingly sacrifices her own happiness for Tiana’s.

Character Biographies

Eudora

Eudora is Tiana's nurturing mom, who worries that her only daughter is working so hard to realize her dream, she is missing out on some of the most important things life has to offer. Eudora has been a seamstress for many years and has made Charlotte's continuing array of princess dresses since Charlotte was little. Eudora's family may not be wealthy like the LaBouffs, but there is no lack of love for Tiana.

James

James is Tiana's father, who dreamed of one day opening his own restaurant and who inspired that dream in little Tiana. He imparted to her his philosophy of food—that it brings people together and puts smiles on their faces. He also shared with Tiana his belief that if you work hard enough, anything is possible. James died in World War I, but his spirit continues strongly in his daughter. James, along with Eudora, provided Tiana a warm, loving family, and he taught Tiana that she should never forget what's really important in life.

Character Biographies

Louis

Louis is an alligator who knows all about jazz, having listened to the great jazz musicians performing on the riverboats passing through the bayou. Louis found a discarded trumpet and taught himself to play. He is now a jazz virtuoso. He helps Tiana and Naveen find their way to each other and back to their human bodies. He now plays lead in the band at Tiana's Palace.

Prince Naveen

Naveen is the handsome, exotic prince from the country of Maldonia. A jazz fanatic, he's visiting New Orleans to experience firsthand the birthplace of this musical phenomenon. Naveen is a charming, outgoing ladies' man who has a problem with responsibility. Recently cut off by his parents because of his gallivanting ways, he is looking to somehow maintain his lavish lifestyle while avoiding his most dreaded fear—having to work for a living. But through his relationship with Tiana, he grows up considerably and discovers an inner nobility he never knew he had.

Dr. Facilier

Dr. Facilier is a sinister, charismatic tarot-card reader/voodoo sorcerer who works the French Quarter, luring unsuspecting “marks” into deals in which he gives them whatever they want but always leaves them much worse off than they were before. Known as the “shadow man” because his shadow has a life and personality of its own, Facilier spreads darkness and corruption wherever he goes.

Lawrence

Lawrence is Naveen's stiff, pompous valet. Though he plays the part of Naveen's dutiful manservant, Lawrence is secretly envious of the prince's charm, good looks, and position. Dr. Facilier exploits this envy for all it is worth.

Ray

Ray is a lovesick Cajun firefly who's constantly pining for his beloved Evangeline. What Ray doesn't realize is that Evangeline is really the North Star. Warm and easygoing, Ray conveys a lot of positive energy, spreading light and always looking on the bright side of life. He believes in true love and is a loyal friend, even going as far as to give his own life to protect Tiana. Ray is rewarded for his sacrifice by becoming a star that appears in the sky right next to the North Star.

Mama Odie

Mama Odie is a 197-year-old blind voodoo priestess who lives deep in the Louisiana bayou with her "seeing-eye snake," Juju. Mama Odie's home is a houseboat placed high in a tree. She's comically eccentric, yet wise and all-knowing, and she loves making big batches of her magical gumbo, which she concocts in an old bathtub. Mama Odie can see what Tiana needs rather than what she wants, and she gently guides Tiana toward figuring it out for herself.

Moana Characters Size Chart

Character Biographies

Moana

Moana is sixteen years old and grew up on the island of Motunui. She is the daughter of the island chief, and she has always been drawn to the open ocean despite her father's rule to stay within the reef. She is adventurous, compassionate, and tenacious – when she feels strongly about something, she never gives up.

Character Biographies

Maui

Maui is a demigod trickster. He wields a magical fishhook which gives him power to shape-shift into different animals. He is charismatic and 'larger-than-life,' big, muscled, and covered with tattoos. He has been marooned on an island for a thousand years after daring to steal the heart of Te Fiti.

Chief Tui

Moana's charismatic and caring father and leader of the village. He expects Moana to be the next leader after him. Long ago, he tried to sail from Motunui, but ran into a storm and his companion was killed. Now, to keep his people from danger, he forbids any of the villagers from sailing beyond the reef.

Character Biographies

Sina

Sina is Moana's mother. She is compassionate, level-headed. She supports Moana and helps her to understand Chief Tui's behavior, especially his opinions about the open ocean.

Gramma Tala

Gramma Tala is Moana's grandmother, the mother to Chief Tui. She loves to tell stories and legends. She believes the people of Motunui are meant to be voyagers across the ocean, and gently encourages Moana to sail. But more important, she encourages Moana to listen to the voice inside of her.

Kakamora

The Kakamora are a group of small coconut-armored bandits who sail on floating islands of flotsam collected from the ocean. We see their arms and legs but never their faces or eyes. Instead, they draw their faces and expressions onto the front of their coconuts. They want to take the heart of Te Fiti from Moana.

Tamatoa

Tamatoa is a giant monster-crab that lives in Lalotai. He is egotistical and showy, and he collects special, shiny, and valuable items, including Maui's fishhook. One of his legs was broken off by Maui in a previous battle.

Character Biographies

The Ocean

The Ocean observes Moana, and when Moana is a toddler, senses something special about her and rises into a wave to offer her the heart of Te Fiti, essentially choosing her.

Te Fiti

Te Fiti, the 'mother island,' is the source of all islands, vegetation, and nature, according to stories told by Gramma Tala.

Te Kā

Te Kā is a huge monster of lava and fire, who is hunting for the heart of Te Fiti.

Character Biographies

Pua

Pua is a sweet and cute little pig who lives on Motunui. He is Moana's innocent pet and friend. He doesn't speak but tries to support Moana in all ways. He behaves like a fiercely loyal puppy.

Heihei

Heihei is a rooster who accidentally sails with Moana. He doesn't speak and continually does stupid things, such as walking off edge of the boat. He is often seen with a coconut over his head. His best skill is pecking . . . but even so, often pecks the wrong things.
